Dear Sir,

This is the official complaint and grievances letter that is coming out of my recent experience with the grocery store. I'm a regular customer of the Everyday Grocery brand for the last few years now. I always used to be much satisfied with the services from the company until this recent encounter with your staff while checking out. Two of your customer dealing staff have manhandled me in a very inappropriate and insulting manner while I was simply asking for the information on the grocery items.

I felt so humiliated and disappointed that I can't put it here in the words. With a dejected behavior from your prestigious company I only seek some decent customer behavior from the staff. With disappointment and hope at the same time, I end my letter here.

Thanks & Regards

Johnny Burns
